Annual e-Governance Report 2022-2023

27-04-2023

Overview

E-governance holds profound significance for engineering colleges, serving as a conduit for streamlining administrative operations, optimizing resource allocation, and fostering a conducive learning environment. By embracing digital solutions, these institutions can transcend traditional bureaucratic constraints and embark on a journey towards enhanced efficiency, transparency, and stakeholder engagement.

Administration

The utilization of Linways software facilitated the streamlining of leave management, admission processes, grievance redressal, and student class allocation.

Finance and Accounts

The college has integrated Linways for the seamless management of salary disbursement and student fee collection processes. Leveraging the platform's robust features, the institution ensures timely and accurate payment distribution to faculty and staff, enhancing administrative efficiency and transparency. Moreover, Linways facilitates convenient and secure fee collection from students, offering multiple payment options and real-time transaction tracking. By adopting Linways for these critical financial operations, the college demonstrates its commitment to modernizing administrative practices and providing a user-friendly experience for both employees and students alike.

Student Admission and Support

The college is using an admission module from Linways and a separate admission software Meritto is being introduced. Meritto software has helped to ease the admission process, which also enable the parent to do the initial payment of fees and selection of priority of seats.

Examination

All Continuous internal evaluations are done in Linways and marks are uploaded and published for the students to view. Students can access their marks through the Linways Portal. Parents can also keep a track of their wards performance by the logging in the parents portal. The e-governance platform for APJ Abdul Kalam Technological University is used for the conduct of the external examinations.

Annual e-Governance Report 2021-2022

21-04-2022

Introduction

Our goal in this area is to create a comprehensive e-Government system that will enable easy integration with the operations of various organisational units and offer hassle-free services to all of its stakeholders.

Administration

In the dynamic landscape of higher education, efficient administration is crucial for ensuring smooth operations within educational institutions. SSET has embraced Linways software to revolutionize administrative tasks, enhancing productivity and efficacy across various departments. The implementation of Linways software resulted in the streamlining of leave management, admission processes, grievance redressal, and student class allocation.

With Linways, resource allocation becomes more strategic and transparent. The software assists in managing faculty workloads, classroom assignments, and laboratory resources, optimizing utilization and minimizing conflicts.

Academic Management

Linways streamlines academic processes, including curriculum planning, course management, and assessment scheduling. Its user-friendly interface allows faculty members to easily upload course materials, create assessments, and track student progress.

Finance and Accounts

The college is using Linways for salary disbursement and student fee collection.

Student Admission and Support

The college is using an admission module from Linways.

Examination

All Continuous internal evaluations are done in Linways and marks are uploaded and published for the students to view. The e-governance platform for APJ Abdul Kalam Technological University is used for the conduct of the external examinations. The proceedings of all examinations are under CCTV surveillance.
