Dear Dr Balasubramanian,

Re: Regional Collaborations Programme COVID-19 Digital Grants

I am pleased to inform you that your application for the Regional Collaborations Programme COVID-19 Digital Grants has been approved by the Department of Industry, Science, Energy and Resources.

A single invoice for $10,000 (GST exclusive) should be submitted by your organisation to the Academy before 1 May 2021. Please note that grant funds can only be used for expenses as outlined in the proposal titled "Artificial Intelligent based alarm to predict the sudden deterioration of health in COVID-19 patients". Any changes to budget allocations must be approved in writing by the Academy.

We remind you that under the Regional Collaborations Programme COVID-19 Digital Grants, researchers must complete projects by 31 January 2022 and there is no capacity to extend this deadline.

It is a condition of your award that you submit a progress report and a final report to the Academy. All reports will be provided to the Department of Industry, Science, Energy and Resources by the Academy. The report templates will be sent to you by 1 May 2021, with a progress report due by 1 June 2021 and a final report due by 31 March 2022.

It is a requirement that any scientific or media publications resulting from the project funded by this program mentions the support granted to the project by the Australian Academy of Science and the Department of Industry, Science, Energy and Resources.

If you have any concerns or questions regarding the grant, please do not hesitate to contact me.

With best wishes,

Nancy Pritchard

The project will commence in April 2021. The Project Lead Investigator Dr. Balasubramanian along with the Indian Co-Investigator Dr. Menon will work on the real-time data streams from IoMT and design and develop an AI-based algorithm to raise an alarm for COVID-19 patients. A novel AI-based predictive algorithm will be developed using machine learning techniques with vital signs collected from patients to predict the deterioration of health due to COVID-19. The project will end by 31st January 2022.

Yours Sincerely

Regional Collaborations Programme COVID-19 Digital Grants project summary template

Outline the project and discuss how the project directly or indirectly contributes to the response to or recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic in the Asia-Pacific region. No more than two pages

A) Problem Statement: Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) is a transferable illness that has infected millions of people. As of December 2020, there have been over 65.8 million cases and over 1.5 million deaths reported since the start of the pandemic in Wuhan, China, in December 2019 [1]. Due to this, the current COVID-19 pandemic has imposed significant stress on medical facilities worldwide. No country have envisioned such a need during the early stage of the pandemic. The lack of medical facilities has adversely threatened the quality of COVID-19 patient care monitoring in the hospitals around the world.

B) Proposed Solution: Remote monitoring offers the opportunity to carefully monitor confirmed or suspected COVID-19 cases from an isolated place or at home with minimal clinician intervention. Remote monitoring also allows for the timely identification of worsening symptoms through intelligent predictive alarms. The project will develop an Artificial Intelligent (AI)-based alarm that can predict the sudden deterioration of health due to COVID-19 disease by deploying a remote continuous monitoring setup using Internet of Medical Things (IoMT) that will stream data from a range of biophysical markers to Cloud.

C) Background: Remote isolated monitoring using IoMT helps to reduce the workload and the risk to the healthcare workers in hospitals. Additionally, it may decrease the number of hospital visits and admissions during COVID-19 times, thereby reducing the use of scarce resources, optimizing health care capacity, and minimizing the risk of viral transmission. Continuous monitoring show lower mortality rates in Jiangsu province, China, where an early warning system based on monitoring of respiratory rate (>30 bpm), SpO₂ ($<93\%$) and heart rate (>120 bpm) was deployed. A cure rate of 96.67% was attributed to the early warning system [2]. During this pandemic, the Department of Health and Human Services in Victoria, Australia recommended elderly patients in residential care facilities be monitored 4/24 for temperature (>38.5), persistent tachycardia, respiratory rate (>30 bpm), BP (< 90 mmHg systolic, < 60 diastolic) and SpO₂ ($< 90\%$) in the isolated room to detect any risk of sudden health deterioration [3].

However, an effective deployment of remote isolated monitoring depends heavy on the generation of smart alarms. Studies have demonstrated that the generation of smart alarms during the monitoring of patients is critical for the early detection of deterioration in patients' health that leads to proactive treatments to reduce the risk of mortality [4]. Although there are a considerable number of existing methods identified in the literature for clinical alarm generation, they typically raise alarms depending on the pre-set values results in frequent alarms and not designed for current COVID-19 and real-time remote monitoring. In most cases, the majority of these alarms are non-actionable because they may have crossed the pre-set parameter limits but have minimal clinical significance – these alarms are known as false positives or false alarms [5]. Due to frequent false alarms, clinicians become less sensitive towards patients' alarms, and neglect any possible dangerous situations resulting in “alarm fatigue” at times [4,5]. In the current pandemic situation, frequent false alarms are more dangerous because they require frequent manual intervention of clinicians that might risk their safety and any neglect of alarms by clinicians can cause sudden deterioration in patients' health or even death. The main focus of the project is to design and implement clinical alarms for confirmed or suspected COVID-19 cases that is triggered ‘right on time’ and accurate so that treatment can be started promptly.

D) Project Description: According to the World Health Organisation, most people with COVID-19 develop only mild (40%) or moderate (40%) disease, approximately 15% develop severe disease that requires oxygen support, and 5% have critical disease with other medical complications [6]. This project will establish a trial in India for data collection and a novel artificial intelligence algorithm will be developed in collaboration, by following the following activities:

1. The project will commence in April 2021. Ethics applications will be prepared and submitted prior to commencement. In the first 2 months, a pilot monitoring of suspected or confirmed mild COVID-19 patients will be established in India with an existing remote monitoring kit.
2. The pilot will have the implementation of the software to automate data collection, embed the pre-set algorithms with the baseline value as recommended in [6] (respiratory rate > 30 breaths/min, SpO₂ < 90% and temperature > 38.5°C), and generate reports.
3. The lead CI Balasubramanian has immense expertise in real-time data streams from IoMT work along with the Indian CI Menon to design and develop an AI-based algorithm to raise an alarm.
4. A novel AI-based predictive algorithm will be developed using machine learning techniques with vital signs samples collected from 1 and 2 to predict the deterioration of health due to COVID-19.
5. The novel AI-based algorithms will be used to predict COVID-19 by setting up extended monitoring in India with confirmed moderate COVID-19 patients thereby building up a unique dataset for AI training and performing a much-needed public health service to raise 'right on time' alarm for deteriorating COVID-19 patients.
6. The last month will be devoted to the write-up of papers, analyzing quantitative and qualitative data collected during the trials.

While India has strictly imposed lockdown rules to avoid the spread of COVID-19 they have had to relax the rules to sustain her economy. The spread of COVID-19 is inevitable but minimising the number of deaths is possible by monitoring suspected or confirmed COVID-19 cases at home or for those in isolation. The current pandemic has overburdened the Indian government hospital setup and the community considerably, the average cost of a hospital bed per day for COVID-19 monitoring in India is reported to be 150 AUD compared to the average salary of 70% of Indians is less than 200 AUD per month. The existing healthcare setup requires novel, alternative COVID-19 monitoring opportunities with early smart intervention. The deployed remote monitoring with AI-based alarms can influence the clinicians to shift the patients to hospitals only based on their deteriorating health condition and can drastically reduce the hospitalization cost not only in India but in the growing economic countries across the Asia-Pacific region.

E) Project Team: CI Balasubramanian has expertise in the development of a scalable IoT architecture for the secure transmission of IoMT data that led to the Anidra spin-out he founded. CI Menon has expertise in IoMT, genetic algorithms, machine learning techniques and mobile health applications. The CIs have already established collaborations through joint publications and clinical approval/development of a smart, remote patient monitoring in Australia and in India. The CI Balasubramanian has applied the IoMT architecture to remote vital signs monitoring in one of the private hospitals in India with AI-based early warning scores. Both Australian and Indian CIs have the right combination of expertise ranging from IoMT, Cloud and AI to complete the project. The team have established clinical partners in India to carry out the trial. The Project funds will be used to develop code to train the AI algorithms and for the cloud infrastructure for the project.

Describe how the activity will contribute to building linkages in the Asia-Pacific region, and facilitate greater science, research, and innovation collaboration.

No more than 300 words

Firstly, the early career researchers CI Balasubramanian & Menon are already collaborating informally in wireless body sensors research. The team proposed and implemented an adaptive and flexible Brain Energized Full Body Exoskeleton (BFBE) for assisting paralysed people using the brain signals captured by the Electroencephalogram (EEG) sensors. CI Balasubramanian has a decade of experience in solving real-time issues in remote patient monitoring using body sensors through hospital trial and research, while CI Menon's work in Center of Robotics in machine learning techniques on wireless sensor data has the potential to facilitate greater research and innovation. Any support and seed funding would formalize their collaboration and enable them to establish an Australia-India Healthcare Data Acquisition and Analytics Research Lab (AIDaaL). As both have exhibited potential to bring in researchers, grants and industries collaboration for innovative applied research.

Secondly, the research outcome will facilitate greater science in India as well as in Australia because there is evidence in Australia that the general public have engaged in using remote monitoring to manage the mild to moderate COVID-19 diseases in the community. However, these patients are kept track off using a mobile application that asks them to self-report their symptoms each day. The report is fed into a dashboard monitored by the practice's nurses, who can see whether individual patients are stable or if their symptoms are getting worse and they need to be contacted. The research of AI-based smart alarms to predict the worsening condition of COVID-19 patients will facilitate greater science by automating the detection process with minimal human intervention.

Finally, the provision of COVID-19 disease monitoring in the highly dense populations (in India) will enhance the use of remote monitoring in developing economies in Asia-Pacific by reducing the hospitalization cost.

Describe how intellectual property (IP) may be used and managed in your project and any proposed ownership of IP resulting from the project will be managed.

No more than 300 words

It has been agreed that all background intellectual property (IP) will be owned by the respective parties and the new foreground IP will be shared according to respective monitored contributions from partners. Any extension made to partners background IP (by any partner) will be owned by its original IP contributing partner.

Agreements will be reached amongst partners prior to commencement so that background IP is retained by each partner and commercialization of IP developed during the project is shared on the basis of contribution. Wherever possible IP will remain accessible for the public good.

I was wondering if it is available to add additional participant from the website? (4 undergrads → 4 undergrads + 1 grad student)

It would be very helpful if the additional grad student could join the team and lead the students, and he will need the registration approval for applying the air-ticket and living expenses.

Thank you for the patience reading this email and looking forward to you kind response.

Dear Varun,

Thank you for inviting us to apply the PPTIA competition.

Please provide me more details for the India VISA application, including:

1. Name of the Contact
2. Address
3. Phone number

I am going to apply the VISA by this Wednesday. It would be great if all the details are done in time.

By the way, we still need to know the place of PPTIA, which dorm we are going to stay, and the transportation.

Do we need to rent a car form the airport to PPTIA?

My students and I are going to arrange the details.

By the way, I will visit you with my students again, and you can let me know if you need anything else from TAIWAN. ^^

Thanks a lot and looking forward to seeing you all at PPTIA.

Best regards,

Dear Varun,

Thank you for inviting us to apply the PPTIA competition.

Please provide me more details for the India VISA application, including:

1. Name of the Contact
2. Address
3. Phone number

I am going to apply the VISA by this Wednesday. It would be great if all the details are done in time.

By the way, we still need to know the place of PPTIA, which dorm we are going to stay, and the transportation.

Do we need to rent a car from the airport to PPTIA?

My students and I are going to arrange the details.

By the way, I will visit you with my students again, and you can let me know if you need anything else from TAIWAN. ^^

Thanks a lot and looking forward to seeing you all at PPTIA.

Best regards,

Dear Varun,

I would like to know the schedule of PPTIA on 11/16-17, then we can book the round-trip flight tickets.

I was searching for the flights online for 6 people, however, the tickets of departure date on 11/15 (Friday night) from Taipei is not enough for 6-people booking.

We may depart from Taipei on 11/14 evening and arrive at COK at 22:40.

If the PPTIA ends by 17:00 on 11/17, we may take the flight at 00:30 departure from COK.

Due to one of the students is applying for the passport, the flight schedule will be settle down till the end of next week.

I will email you the final one, and I am sorry for the inconvenience of the airport pickup due to the terrible flight schedule.

Please let me know if you need more information.

Hope you are doing good. We are looking forward receiving students from DIU for Internship at Center for Robotics, SCMS School of Engineering and Technology. As you are aware the program is planned to start from June 17th 2019. We also look forward to receive the faculty from DIU. It would be great if you could give me the registered students names and the visiting faculty by April 10th so that suitable arrangements can be done.

I have also attached a detailed syllabus of the program as requested by you. We could also plan a video conference of your students with Dr. Sunil Jacob, Director Center for Robotics once the registration formalities are completed.

Looking forward to the updates from you.

Dear Mr. Syed Raihan-UI-Islam,

Thank you for the collaboration with SCMS.

The syllabus communicated by your Department looks fine. The Internship at SCMS Center for Robotics would mainly focus on implementation of projects based on the syllabus topics. As we have also planned a few advanced topics, It would be great to have students who have good understanding of the basics.

We would be happy to welcome one faculty form DIU along with the students for the program. The faculty could also share ideas with our students. We will take care of accommodation and food of the faculty.

We have already made the arrangements for the program this year with the cost of 300 USD. We will definitely look into your suggestions regarding the cost in the subsequent years.

The tentative date planned for the start of the program is 17th June 2019.

Looking forward to your reply,

Dear Dr. Varun,

I got feedback from the departments

We can send a group of 4 students (after successful application by students) to you to attend the program.

The Department suggested the following with industry or factory tour:

Lesson 1: Introduction

Lesson 2: Sensors, actuators, and drivers

Lesson 3: Embedded robot controller, I/O interfacing, and PWM amplifiers

Lesson 4: Controller software and sensor inputs

Lesson 5: ADC and sensor-based controls

Lesson 6: Algorithms and planning strategies for specific tasks

Lesson 7: Kinematics, differential motion and navigation

As suggested, we would like to send a faculty member with the 4 students who can guide them during the stay as well as if you can accept him/her as an exchange faculty to teach in the SCMS for 2 weeks. Do you think it's possible?

At the same time, the cost of the program is 300 USD for each participant. It would be more possible to get students if you minimize the cost such as not more than 200 USD.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Dear Matsue Interns and Sponsoring organisations,

Wish you all a Very Happy New Year!

Pleased to inform that the Orientation and Japanese language classes are going on in full swing for the Interns, as planned.

But the recent strikes in Kerala on Sabarimala issue have caused postponement of certain University Exams of the students and subsequently disturbed the Matsue Internship project as well.

Now Matsue city Authorities are proposing to shift the Project to another period. They have proposed the following two periods and have requested for the confirmation of BOTH the periods. This is for them to choose the most convenient period.

1. From 18 Feb.(Mon) to 1 Mar.(Fri)
(Depart from Kochi on 16 Feb. and return to Kochi on 3 Mar.)
2. From 4 Mar.(Mon) to 15 Mar.(Fri)
(Depart from Kochi on 2 Mar. and return to Kochi on 17 Mar.)

Kindly give us a quick feedback by tonight. This is because they have to decide by tomorrow.

A risk of cancellation also prevails. So we have to act quick. We have already conveyed this matter to the Interns through WhatsApp. Some of them have responded too.

In any case, we have to confirm by tomorrow. So kindly cooperate.

Thanks and regards

Sincerely yours

Peter

Dear Matsue Interns and Sponsoring organisations,

Wish you all a Very Happy New Year!

Pleased to inform that the Orientation and Japanese language classes are going on in full swing for the Interns, as planned.

But the recent strikes in Kerala on Sabarimala issue have caused postponement of certain University Exams of the students and subsequently disturbed the Matsue Internship project as well.

Now Matsue city Authorities are proposing to shift the Project to another period. They have proposed the following two periods and have requested for the confirmation of BOTH the periods. This is for them to choose the most convenient period.

1. From 18 Feb.(Mon) to 1 Mar.(Fri)
(Depart from Kochi on 16 Feb. and return to Kochi on 3 Mar.)
2. From 4 Mar.(Mon) to 15 Mar.(Fri)
(Depart from Kochi on 2 Mar. and return to Kochi on 17 Mar.)

Kindly give us a quick feedback by tonight. This is because they have to decide by tomorrow.

A risk of cancellation also prevails. So we have to act quick. We have already conveyed this matter to the Interns through WhatsApp. Some of them have responded too.

In any case, we have to confirm by tomorrow. So kindly cooperate.

Thanks and regards

Sincerely yours

Peter

Dear Prof. AO Harumi,

We have contacted the Japanese Visa Processing Center and they have mentioned two things.

- 1) The Invitation should be from the University
- 2) If the inviting organization is bearing the expenses. The following two things should be submitted.
 - a. Original Letter of Guarantee
 - b. A certified copy of the incorporation register or an overview of organization.

Thank you,

I am contacting you because I heard some wonderful news. I believe you have accepted offers to work with Honest. I'm truly happy to hear this. Incidentally, this is just an idea, but after you receive your notice of appointment letters from Honest, I think it would be a great idea for the two of you to visit the president of ASA Kerala to inform him of this. ASA Kerala's assistance played an important role in your internship programme which brought you to Japan and I strongly believe visiting them, and becoming members, will lead to something beneficial for the two of you, such as advice about work life in Japan. Just in case you might need it, I have received permission from the president of ASA Kerala, Mr. Jacob Kovoov, to forward his email address to you. It is jnkovoov@yahoo.com. I hope to hear you will come to Japan as members of ASA Kerala. And I am very much looking forward to seeing you two again in Matsue.
